FAQ:

How can you obtain permits for your Event?

For a community Event, contact the Parks & Rec Special Events Office for guidance on acquiring permits. Local law enforcement should be advised of the Event, as they may attend and provide additional safety measures. For a university Event, contact the office responsible for holding Events and renting spaces. This might be the "Student Center Operations," "Conference Center," or the "Student Activities Office."

How should you market your Event?

Share the Event information via social media (Facebook, LinkedIn, Twitter, Instagram, YouTube, and TikTok), local or school media (newspapers, radio, TV), and flyers.

Are TBTN Events open to all genders?

Early Events often consisted of women only. Today's TBTN Events are inclusive and do not discriminate based on race, sexuality, gender, religion, age, or any other identity.

What is the average time length of TBTN Event?

The Traditional TBTN Event lasts 1-2 hours. Length varies based on the type of the Event.

How much time should be allocated for your Walk, Run, or Bike Event?

- An average person walks 1 mile in 15-20mins. Most TBTN Walks are 2 miles, which will take approximately 30-40mins.
- An average 5K run takes approximately 45-60mins.
- The average person bikes 1 mile in 3-4mins. If you are planning a 10-mile Bike For The Night route, you should allocate 30-40mins.
- Consider allocating extra 5-10mins to allow for all participants to regroup before starting the next segment of the Event. When selecting a route, avoid steep hills, mud, and construction. Choose a looped route with the same start and endpoint.

Can TBTNF help you plan and host your Virtual Event?

The cost of having TBTNF help plan and host your Virtual Event is $250. This fee is waived if you schedule speakers and/or purchase at least 100 T-shirts for your Event. For a Virtual Event, prices range from $750-3000 per TBTNF speaker and vary depending on presentation duration. Prices available for each speaker on request. Discount available if you schedule 2 or more speakers.

How do you organize a Speak-Out?

- The purpose of a Speak-Out is to provide survivors with a supportive, safe space where they can share their stories.
- Roles:
 - Moderator: Volunteer who enforces agreed-upon rules to ensure each speaker can fully express themselves. The moderator will need to be confident in interrupting anyone who is not abiding by these rules. This person will have the responsibility of informing media representatives and reading the rules at the start of the Speak-Out.
 - Survivors of sexual assault: Participants who convey their experience of being abused, assaulted, raped, or otherwise harmed to empower both the speaker and those who hear their testimony. TBTN promotes healing, strength, support, and validation to all survivors of sexual assault.
 - Allies: Organizations, celebrities, and leaders who publicly show their support by publicizing and/or attending the TBTN Event. TBTN allies may also show their support through monetary donation.
- During a Speak-Out, TBTNF suggests rules to promote respect among attendees.
 - Each speaker holds the floor only once for three minutes to ensure everyone gets the opportunity to speak.

- Content should not include swear words, names, or descriptions of harming others or oneself.
 - Once all speakers have had the chance to speak, the floor will open to further dialogue.
- The speaker can “speak-out” publicly or privately.
 - Public: the speaker consents to being photographed, filmed, or otherwise recorded, and to being quoted by the Media.
 - Private: the speaker does not consent to being recorded in any way and prefers not to have his/her remarks shared publicly after the Speak-Out.
- Remind all speakers that we cannot control what happens because of sharing their stories in a Speak-Out. There may be retaliation, harassment, bullying, threats, media coverage, defamation allegations, and other consequences. If a situation occurs, it may be addressed by school policies, civil and criminal laws, and other redress means. Speaking out is an act of courage in the face of the unknown.
- In a Speak-Out, participants agree to demonstrate respect and support for all attendees.
- Any media representatives or others who are observed violating the confidentiality of speakers will be asked to leave immediately.

Is there a statement you can read to start your March, Rally, Walk, or Vigil?

Suggested statement to kick-off Marches, Rallies and Walks:

This is Why We March/Rally/Walk/Run.

We stand together, refusing to be silent about sexual violence.

We refuse to take responsibility for harassment, abuse, stalking, rape, sexual assault. Only the perpetrator is responsible.

We chant to say we should be safe, live without fear of violence, and support each other.

We walk to celebrate the steps we are taking to heal and support those who are healing.

We remember those who have died from sexual violence and empower those who have survived.

We unite for our collective strength.

Suggested statement to start a Vigil:

This is Why We Shine Our Light at our Vigil.

We shed light to demonstrate we are not afraid of the dark, whatever the darkness represents to each of us.

The light from our candles represents our commitment to supporting victims.

Our circle represents our unity in working to end sexual violence.

We are silent to reflect on pain, trust, and hurt.

We are also silent to envision the world as a safe place for everyone.

Should you use candles or glowsticks as a vigil for your Event?

Glowsticks are more cost effective than candles, but are less environmentally friendly. Candles are also a potential fire hazard.

How can we connect with other groups hosting TBTN Events and stay active with TBTN throughout the year?

Groups can form TBTN Chapters, allowing for more consistency for their group and support from survivors. See more information about TBTN Chapters and Chapter requirements.

Poems:

Shine Your Light for Take Back The Night

Welcome everyone.

We unite tonight.

Some of us bring our hurt.

Some of us bring our strength.

We stand together.

We shatter the silence on sexual violence.

We Walk the Walk.

We Shine Our Light.

For Take Back The Night.

Strong Courage

My courage is STRONG

It is the strongest people have seen in a while

The kind you rarely see

My courage is when I stand up to people

My courage is when I tell the truth and not be afraid

My courage is when I help someone and put myself in danger to help

My courage is not being scared of a risky task

My courage is speaking my mind without any worries

My courage is STRONG

How do we create a "safe space" for survivors to share their stories? Are faculty and staff required to report the experiences they hear?

Guidance from Title IX: <https://www.govinfo.gov/content/pkg/FR-2020-05-19/pdf/2020-10512.pdf>

Public Awareness Events are not considered as notice to the school for the purpose of triggering an individual investigation, unless the survivor initiates a complaint. (p. 16-17 footnote)

Guidance from SUNY on the Clery Act: <https://system.suny.edu/media/suny/content-assets/documents/sci/Clery-Act-CLE-Book-Winter-2020-2021.pdf>

Is a school required to investigate information regarding sexual violence incidents shared by survivors during public awareness events, such as "Take Back the Night"?

Answer: No. OCR wants students to feel free to participate in preventive education programs and access resources for survivors. Therefore, public awareness events such as “Take Back the Night” or other forums at which students disclose experiences with sexual violence are not considered notice to the school for the purpose of triggering an individual investigation unless the survivor initiates a complaint. The school should instead respond to these disclosures by reviewing sexual assault policies, creating campus-wide educational programs, and conducting climate surveys to learn more about the prevalence of sexual violence at the school. Although Title IX does not require the school to investigate particular incidents discussed at such events, the school should ensure that survivors are aware of any available resources, including counseling, health, and mental health services. To ensure that the entire school community understands their Title IX rights related to sexual violence, the school should also provide information at these events on Title IX and how to file a Title IX complaint with the school, as well as options for reporting an incident of sexual violence to campus or local law enforcement. (p.76)

Guidance from Clery Handbook: <https://www2.ed.gov/admins/lead/safety/handbookfsa.pdf>

Scenario: Jane, a resident advisor, is attending a Take Back the Night rally at her school. She attends the event as a participant and is not involved in providing any counseling services. As part of the event’s programming, a student gives a speech in which she says that she was raped on campus last year. In response to hearing the speech, three other students decide to address the crowd and disclose their own experiences being sexually assaulted. After the event, Jane returns to her room where a student from her housing facility knocks on her door and tells her that she was sexually assaulted at an oncampus party in another housing facility three months ago. Jane should forward the report of the incident that was reported to her as she was acting in her capacity as an RA for her housing facility. Jane should not report the Sexual Assaults that she heard discussed at the Take Back the Night event. (p.113)
